

Puzzle # 14

JULY

Two Fathers, Two Sons and Three Fish

There are three men: A grandfather, a father (the grandfather's son) and the father's son.

Owls and Wolves

5 owls and 5 wolves, (not 6 owls because 2 of the eyes and legs are yours).

Cut One off and I Become Stronger

I have three letters. Cut one off and I become stronger. Cut two off and I become ten. What am I?

Feared by Most, but Experienced by All

I am a five-letter word and am feared by most but experienced by all. If you remove my first and last letters I bring life. If you add an 'r' between the third and fourth letters I am almost nothing and if you remove the first letter from this new word, I am your home.
