Book #6

The Moonstone
by Wilkie Collins (1868)

The enthralling story of a stolen diamond from India. Narrated from manifold perspectives thanks to the epistolary novel strategy, the theft of Rachel Verinder's precious stone intertwines with love, murder, embezzlement and investigation.

Considered as the first detective novel in the English language, this book remains to this day an irresistible page-turner to enjoy in one go.
