

Both forms are correct and are the irregular comparative forms of the adjective far.
They are used in different contexts, though:

For further information, please don't hesitate to contact our concierge.

To get to the post office, you need to walk a bit farther down this road, sir.

Further = additional, more

Farther = more distant

