

Illicit love falls into the category of unfaithfulness and, more generally, betrayal. When you cheat upon your partner, you get involved in some extra-marital (our out-of-the-wedlock) relationship, also referred to as an affair. The betrayed husband is called a cuckhold – which is not exactly a flattering definition. The woman lover is often called a mistress, whereas the man is known as a paramour or, simply, lover. Sexual activity without involvement is jokingly referred to as having a roll in the hay, which is frequently associated with one-night stands.

